Introduction

Rhodes Asset Management Ltd and our related bodies (referred to in this document as 'we', 'us' or 'our') are committed to managing your personal information in accordance with the Australian Privacy Principles under the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) and in accordance with other applicable privacy laws.

This document sets out our policies for managing your personal information and is referred to as our Privacy Policy. This Privacy Policy explains how we collect, hold, use, disclose and protect personal information.

What information do we collect about you?

The type of personal information that we collect will vary depending on the circumstances of collection and the kind of service that you request from us, but will typically include:

- your name;
- contact details; and
- any additional personal information you provide to us, or authorise us to collect,

as part of your interaction with us.

How do we use and disclose your personal information?

We will collect personal information as reasonably necessary for us to carry out our business and to provide our products and services. We also use your personal information to comply with Australian taxation laws, Anti-Money Laundering and Counter-Terrorism laws and all other applicable laws; and discloses personal information to various law enforcement agencies, regulatory authorities and governments.

Additionally, your personal information may also be used for secondary purposes such as for the provision of promotional and marketing material. You can notify us at any time if you do not wish to receive such materials or information. Where we collect your personal information for a specific purpose not contemplated in this Privacy Policy, we will provide you with a collection notice which explains the primary purpose and any related secondary purposes for which your personal information is being collected.

We may also collect information based on how you use our website (www.rhodesam.com.au). We use "cookies" and other data collection methods to collect information on website activity, such as the number of visitors and the number of pages viewed. This information can be collected to analyse and improve our website and to record statistics on web traffic. We do not use this information to personally identify you.

We do not actively seek to collect sensitive information (for example health information or information about any criminal record), unless it is necessary for our business purposes. If we do have to collect sensitive information, we will only collect, use and disclose it in accordance with privacy laws.

How do we store your personal information?

We aim to take all reasonable steps to protect your personal information from misuse, loss, unauthorised access, interference, modification or disclosure.

We have physical, electronic and procedural safeguards to protect your information which is held by us. For example, your personal information is stored in secured offices and access to it is protected by a range of security measures such as secure authentication, password controls, encryption, firewalls and anti-virus technology. Access to personal information is also restricted to staff whose job purpose requires access to it and we also require all employees to maintain strict confidentiality at all times regarding the personal information of our investors.

Where the personal information we collect is no longer required, we use secure methods to permanently destroy or de-identify any personal information in accordance with this privacy policy and all applicable laws.

Accessing and updating your personal information

If you require access to or wish to update your personal information, please contact us:
